THE HYDROGRAPHER.

Latest Addition to the Coast and Geodetic Survey Service.

The Hydrographer, which is the latest addition to the fleet of the coast and geodetic survey service, will leave Baltimore today on her initial trip. Her first work will be to explore Chesapeake bay to verify and revise the coast pilot information in the possession of the service. On this trip she will reach Washington near the end of the present month.

The Hydrographer was built at Fort Jefferson, L. I., having been launched in September. She is the smallest craft in the fleet of the coast survey service, being but 100 feet long. She is expected to prove a very economical craft. Her speed is ten knots and her steaming radius 1,200 miles.

She is in charge of Captain John Ross, and has a crew of seven officers and sixteen men.

The Hydrographer was inspected yesterday by Superintendent O. H. Titman of the coast and geodetic survey. Her present assignment is to make the necessary verification of the coast pilot before the cold weather impedes navigation. She will then probably be sent to one of the southern bays for winter work.

The Hydrographer was authorized by Congress last year, and cost $20,000.

FAIR; COLDER TONIGHT.
Thursday Fair, Fresh Westerly Winds Indicated.

Forecast till 8 p.m. Thursday: For the District of Columbia, Delaware and Maryland, fair, colder tonight; Thursday fair;
fresh westerly winds.
For Virginia, fair tonight; colder in western and northern portions; Thursday fair;
fresh westerly winds.

Weather conditions and general forecast:
The northern storm has reached the Maine coast with a still further increase in intensity; the lower lakes reading at Eastport, Me., being 29.2 inches. Severe westerly gales with rain have characterized the progress of this storm east of the Mississippi river, and it has been closely followed by a decided fall in temperature which this morning covers the gulf and Atlantic states, except eastern New England.

In the west and northwest temperatures have risen generally and considerably, except in the extreme northwest, where they have again fallen.

There will be snow tonight in the interior of New York and in extreme northwestern Pennsylvania, followed by fair weather Thursday; rain is probable Thursday in the middle gulf states; elsewhere in the east and south the weather will be generally fair tonight and Thursday.

It will be colder tonight in the southern portion of the middle Atlantic states, and warmer Thursday in the east gulf states.

On the middle Atlantic coast winds will be fresh westerly; on the south Atlantic coast light to fresh northerly; on the east gulf coast light to fresh north to north-east; on the lower lakes and in the north.

Steamers which depart today for European ports will have high northwesterly winds and clearing weather to the Grand Bank.

The following heavy precipitation (in inches) has been reported during the past twenty-four hours: Montreal, 1.12.

Records for Twenty-Four Hours.
The following were the readings of the thermometer and barometer at the weather bureau for the twenty-four hours beginning at 2 p.m. yesterday:
